Carefully designed lady-specific braces, tried and tested by the Bike It team, offer higher levels of comfort with a much lower build up of heat around the waist than with regular shorts.

RUBENA ROAD TYRES

RUBENA TECHNOLOGIES EXPLAINED

CLASSIC

Using Rubena's Basic Compound, Classic tyres offer reliability, good riding properties and higher inflation pressures, making them ideal for daily usage and entry level racing or training.

LONG WAY

High resistance to puncture both in the sidewall and tread area through the abrasion resistant tread and reinforced gum wall compounds. Typically offers twice the life of Classic tyres. Designed for long-distance riding and touring.

RP (RACING PRO)

Light tread compound and high TPI (threads per inch) carcass for low weight, low drag and high inflation pressures. Ideal for racing or high level training.

SP (Sport)

Using OC for a tyre with low weight, mid-range TPI (threads per inch) and capable of high pressures for a good training or racing tyre.

BC (Basic Compound)

Standard tread black-carbon compound with a long service life and good riding properties. Designed for daily use in universal conditions.

SMC (Silica Medium Compound)

Special tread compound with activated silica for low drag and good grip. Designed for sporting use, and is very good in low temperatures.

OC (Optimal Compound)

Compound with higher resistance against abrasion. Ideal for use in tyres designed for amateur sport and training.

CRX (Light Compound)

Active carbon rubber compound providing high structural strength, excellent grip and low drag. Designed for racing use.

XGC (X-treme Grip Compound)

Special soft tread compound with high structural strength. Designed for extreme sport use in rough terrain thanks to its very good grip properties.

LC (Liquid Compound)

Special latex-based sealant, mainly for use in Tubeless Supra tyres. Can also be used with regular tyres as a puncture prevention measure.

APS (Anti-Puncture System)

A special rubber band between tread and carcass decreases punctures from sharp objects or pinch impacts, while reducing tyre drag.

CE (Cut Enemy)

Special fabric added throughout the tyre profile to increase overall stiffness and significantly protect the tyre against side punctures.

STU (Stop Thorn Ultimate)

A special compound buffer is used between tread and carcass to greatly reduce punctures from sharp objects or pinch impacts, without affecting rolling resistance. Every STU tyre also features a reflex stripe for enhanced visibility.

RS (Reflex Stripe)

A reflective stripe on the sidewall enhances visibility in low light conditions. Reflective material meets EN standards.

Plain Gauge handlebars are made from alloy that is the same thickness throughout the bars.

Double Butted handlebars use alloy that tapers to a thinner wall thickness in the centre. This makes for lighter bars, with no loss of strength.

Carbon fibre handlebars are incredibly light and can also help reduce the amount of vibrations transferred from road to rider by the natural flex properties of the material.

Which handlebar shape you use is a up to you. Traditional curve and compact bars offer multiple hand position options, while anatomic offer less, but more defined positions. If you only ride in the drops, why not try some anatomics?

While we list stems as MTB or Road models, there is no hard and fast rule and you can use whichever stem you like the look of, or that gives you your preferred riding position.

6061-T6 alloy is very strong, so thinner walls can be used to lighten the component.

Add a wrap of carbon fibre and some road vibration gets absorbed - and they look fantastic!

Adjustable stems are also very useful if you share your bike with another person, and you're both different heights. Within seconds, each rider can adjust handlebar height and enjoy a more comfortable ride.

KEIRIN STEM ACCESSORIES

To ensure there is no damage to the steering column of your forks, it is important to use the correct clamp type for your forks.

Forks with carbon steerers can easily be damaged by using the wrong clamp. Item 10 is designed specifically for use with carbon steerer tubes. There are no sharp edges to damage the carbon, yet the body expands and is grippy enough to give a secure hold. This can also be used with alloy steerers.

For alloy steerer tubes, item 11 is perfect, and is offered in silver and black versions so you can match it to your stem.

Star nuts need installing at the correct depth and perfectly level in the steerer tube.

To ensure correct installation, use our Zero12 star nut setter. This simple to use tool will set the star nut level and at the correct depth in 1" or 1 1/8" steerer tubes.

For more information, see page 96 in our extensive tools section.

Saddle bags come in many shapes and sizes, so which do you choose?

Different sizes are provided as some of you are minimalists, and only take the bare essentials on a ride, while others prefer to take more supplies such as tools, extra gloves, hats etc so a Large size bag with expansion may make more sense.

As for strap fix or quick release - do you just ride? Or like to stop at a cafe? If you just ride, then strap fix will work well, while quick release models will be more convenient if you want to take your bag with you at the coffee stops.

If you are concerned about squashing your belongings on a ride, then a hard EVA case would be a good choice.

Many of the EIGO saddle bags come with LED light loops. For suitable lights, see page 61.

Using their extensive knowledge, Gigapower have formulated a special ceramic fibre compound to give excellent braking performance, in dry or wet conditions with no squeal - guaranteed!!

The ceramic fibre is semi-flexible and insulates against friction heat, keeping the rims cooler so the compound lasts longer giving you powerful braking over an extended period. The semi-flexible compound also gives better control of braking power, and the pads are suitable for steel, alloy and aluminium rims.

Gigapower's special compound also features no metal materials, so the life of your rims is extended - and with no harmful toxic material, they're also environmentally friendly.

GIGAPOWER DISC BRAKE PADS

Non-squeal braking performance - guaranteed!

Stop safely, even with greasy rotors. Gigapower use a special Carbon fibre compound, that gives superb braking performance, with no squeal - backed up by their money back guarantee!

This environmentally safe organic compound prevents heat build up within the pads, which removes brake fade through pad overheating.

The special compound also eliminates any changes of property status, so best performance is always delivered. The compound also contains no metal elements, so rotor life is extended.

For safety and best performance, it is highly recommended to replace any old or damaged rotors when changing pads.
